ROME STILL SILENT ON DEBTS ATTITUDE

ROME, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Rumors that Italy was preparing a debt postponement request to the United States, similar to the action taken by Britain, France and Belgium, today elicited a semi-official statement that there was "nothing to it so far."

Financial sources expressed the belief that the Rome government was waiting to study the American reaction to the other request before deciding on any similar move.

BY JOHN F. CHESTER.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Gathering his advisors around him, President Hoover today plunged deep into consideration of the nation's war debt course and of the policies his administration will pursue until its March 4 conclusion.

Almost before the echoes of a returning-to-the-capital reception for had died, the chief executive called in one after another of his aides.

Secretary Mills, after a half-hour conference, let it be known that he had discussed the policies to be outlined shortly in response to requests from foreign debtors for a review of their obligations and for a suspension of payments due on December 15.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, followed, while Secretary Stimson discussed the debt problem, also, across the White House luncheon table.

Other cabinet and official callers, including Vice President Curtis, reported they had spoken principally of more domestic problems and of other matters to be placed before congress by the chief executive when it convenes December 5.

Although the president himself remained silent on debt matters, as possible he may until the closer approach of his conference with President-elect Roosevelt, Mr. Hoover was represented in authoritative quarters as definitely opposed to another year's moratorium.

The president is not convinced, it was said, that all payments due the United States on December 15, will not be made and feels that a more rigid attitude should be adopted than any wholesale suspension of these payments.

Today the separate but similar requests of Great Britain, France and Belgium for a deferment of payments and a reopening of debt negotiations and a reopening of debt negotiations and a reopening of debt negotiations.

Non-Partisan Group Enters Air Battle

Principals in the fight for control of Aviation Corporation are shown above. At the right is E. L. Cord, 38-year-old sensation of the automobile industry, who is fighting the efforts of LeMotte T. Cohn, left, youthful president of Aviation Corporation, to purchase North American Aviation, Inc., and thus gain control of Eastern Air Transport, Inc., and bring about a merger of American Airways and Eastern. Cord, president of Auburn Auto, is the largest individual stockholder in Aviation Corporation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A new element entered the contest over control of Aviation Corporation of Delaware tonight with the announcement of an independent committee of stockholders "not partisan in the controversy" between the corporation management and E. L. Cord.

Announcement of the new committee headed by former Governor John H. Trumbull came at the close of a day marked by fresh charges and counter charges between the two interests battling for proxies and by a statement, quoting William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that there could be "no co-operation between labor, Mr. Cord and any company which he dominates."

The announcement of the Trumbull committee said all stockholders would be "called for proxies and that a letter to be written them would state that the members of the committee believe, with their background of experience in the aviation field and their ability to determine with reasonable certainty the merits of the controversy referred to, that they will exercise the vote on the side or the other might revolve them by the mere act of giving a later dated proxy to the new committee."

The statement added that stockholders who had already given proxies on one side or the other might revoke them by the mere act of giving a later dated proxy to the new committee.

U. S. HOSPITAL AID INDICTED IN DEATH

Murder Charged by Federal Jury After Death of Veteran.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A federal grand jury here today indicted "in" Leroy Brown, an attendant at the United States Veterans Hospital No. 62, at Augusta, for murder in connection with the death of Charles K. Dickinson, an inmate.

Dickinson died at the hospital last month. He was from Somerville, Tenn. Aaron Ott, another attendant, testified at a preliminary hearing in Augusta last month that Brown beat the patient, choked him with a towel and walked on him shortly before he died.

Ott and Walter L. Epps, also an attendant, were cited as material witnesses at the first hearing which ordered Brown bound over on a murder charge.

A physician said an autopsy showed that Dickinson had 16 broken ribs, one of which had punctured a lung and caused pneumonia that was fatal. He testified at the preliminary hearing in Augusta that Brown and Dickinson fought. He said Dickinson weighed about 200 pounds.

"The encounter," he testified, "happened shortly after I went on duty at 6:30 o'clock. Dickinson was sitting

PROPOSED MERGER OF TWO COLLEGES AROUSSES BAPTISTS

Suggested Joining of Mercer and Bessie Tift Throws Macon Convention Into Turmoil.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—After two days of argument of budget plans, the Georgia Baptist convention tonight was plunged into another controversy when the committee on education recommended consolidation of Mercer University and Bessie Tift College.

A storm of protest broke out over the recommendation, presented by Dr. A. J. Moncrief with his committee report on education. Dr. J. D. Mell, who headed the first fight on the budget committee's recommendation, was the first of the consolidation opponents who gained the floor.

One after another of the delegates sought recognition. Old Baptist leaders expected an all-night battle, but at midnight a motion to adjourn until tomorrow was carried, without final action on the proposal.

The report of Dr. Aquila Chamlee, president of Bessie Tift College, was changed into a diatribe against the proposal, which had immediately preceded his scheduled report.

Budget Plan Approved

Reports of R. K. White, president of Norman Junior College, and A. M. Gates, president of Brewton-Parker Institute, also on the education program, became arguments against adoption of any budget plan under consideration, which would in effect abandon for the convention any interest in the two secondary schools.

Mercer University's program, presented before report of the committee on education, adhered to its scheduled form. Hugh Willet, Mercer trustee, was chairman of the Mercer program. Dr. Spright Dowell, president, told about the centennial program scheduled for the next commencement.

Dr. Fred F. Brown, president of the Southern Baptist convention, made his address and then Dr. Moncrief began the part of the program devoted to education.

The pointed to a growing tendency of the public to patronize state and private secondary schools and declared the convention should concentrate its patronage on the school or college which would be able to maintain its standardization and classification.

Committee's Duty

"Only to do this appears to the committee," he said. "The transfer of

McCallie Tests Sand, Little Oil Is Found

Dr. S. W. McCallie, state geologist, said Wednesday that he had notified officials of the Alabama Oil and Gas Company that he was unable to find traces of oil in commercial quantities in borings sunk in a well near the junction of the Ocmulgee and Ogeechee rivers in Jeff Davis county.

The borings on the ground were that later borings into the sand below 710 feet showed oil of high quality of approximately 41 gravity. It was stated by Elmer Rege, vice president of the company and in charge of the drilling operations, that the well would be sunk farther and the final test made about the middle of next week, when necessary casing, now en route, had arrived.

The geologist said he was not prepared to say definitely that there was no oil of commercial quantities in the field, but merely that the borings sunk to him for observation gave no indication of it.

The Alabama company was formed by a group of citizens in the area for the purpose of prospecting for oil. "It may be that there is oil in the field," Dr. McCallie said. "The company reported that the borings had been sunk to a depth of 700 feet. At that level they showed no indication of a large amount of oil, and I so informed the company today."

Al Capone Goes Back to 'Big House' While Judge Studies Freedom Plea

Al Capone (left) as he emerged from the federal building Wednesday afternoon with United States Marshal Louis W. Crawford just behind him, a staff photograph by Kenneth Rogers. On the right is an exclusive picture made when the former gang leader entered the building at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning for the hearing which started shortly after 10 o'clock. Bill Mason, of The Constitution, was the only photographer at the Poplar street entrance where this photograph was made.

Drab prison routine closed down again on Al Capone, one-time "big fellow" of Chicago's underworld, Wednesday afternoon after Federal Judge E. Hyde Park Saturday and to leave for the hearing which started shortly after 10 o'clock. Bill Mason, of The Constitution, was the only photographer at the Poplar street entrance where this photograph was made.

Capone's visit of several hours to federal court was marked by a reunion with his brother, John Capone, whose identity leaked out in spite of efforts to preserve his incognito. References to another brother, Ralph Capone, who got into trouble with the government over his income tax, were made during the course of the hearing as attorneys quoted from the decision in the Ralph Capone case.

Clad in a neat-fitting suit of dark blue with a white handkerchief peeking from the breast pocket, Capone exhibited keen interest in the highly technical legal proceedings, but spoke to no one, save for an occasional word to his counsel. At his side constantly was Warden A. C. Adershold, against whom the writ of habeas corpus was directed. Capone's brother, John, occupied a chair back of the "big shot."

Every available seat in the courtroom was taken by spectators, and deputies of United States Marshal Louis H. Crawford, acting under

STURDIVANT'S SON IS REPORTED DYING

Youth Given Little Chance to Recover From Bullet Wound in Chest.

Though he rallied slightly following a blood transfusion given at Grady hospital Wednesday afternoon, T. O. Sturdivant Jr., 18-year-old son of Atlanta's police chief, was given only the barest chance for recovery from a pistol wound said to have been self-inflicted.

According to officers who reported to Chief Sturdivant, his son shot himself as he stood in a doorway on Wall street, under the viaduct, shortly before noon Wednesday. A 25 caliber pistol, they said, was clutched in his hand when a passerby, who heard the shot, rushed to the boy's assistance.

Young Sturdivant, a freshman at Tech High school, was dressed in his R. O. T. C. uniform, the pockets of which contained two notes, one addressed "To My Friends All Over the World," and the other addressed to his parents. Neither letter gave a reason for the suicide attempt.

Chief Sturdivant, on a hunting trip near Valdosta, was notified by telephone and came to Atlanta by airplane, arriving late in the afternoon. He went immediately to Grady, where he found his son undergoing a blood transfusion from Louis Wilson, record clerk at the hospital.

Medical charts at the hospital showed the bullet had penetrated the

AUGMENTED FORCE DRIVES TO COMBAT HOLDUPS, KILLINGS

120 Patrolmen Volunteer To Work During Off Hours in War on Robberies Which Have Snuffed Out Two Lives.

ORDERS BY POOLE BACKED BY BOARD

Assistant Acts in Chief's Absence; Police Cars To Be Manned by Plainclothes Men.

The Atlanta police department Wednesday night launched the most intensive war on crime in the history of the city. A greatly augmented force of 200 patrolmen, detectives and supernumeraries, 120 of them volunteers, in addition to the regular watch, were on active duty patrolling the business sections of the city.

Declaring the crime situation in Atlanta an emergency during the continuation of which the lives and the property of the citizens are in peril, Acting Chief A. Lamar Poole, with the backing and advice of Councilman C. Dan Bridges, chairman of the councilmanic police committee, called for volunteers from the department to work off-duty hours.

Bulletin Issued

He issued the following bulletin: "To the officers of the department: I call upon all men of the department who can possibly do so to volunteer for two or three hours' extra duty at night. Day men volunteering for this work should report back at 6:30 and the evening men should remain on duty after turning in their cars."

"All volunteers should be stationed in territory where holdups are most likely to occur, and should remain in the background and keep a sharp watch for suspicious persons."

"Every effort should be exerted to apprehend the burglars and holdups who have been operating in the city and to this end every suspicious person who cannot give a good account of himself should be arrested."

"Acting Chief of Police"

Two hours later 120 men had responded. The emergency orders followed the murder Tuesday night of the second victim of bandits and holdup thugs and a wave of robberies, safe burglaries, holdups, purse-snatchings, and pocket-picking during the last few weeks.

There were no holdups reported to police Wednesday night. Lawless activities for the most part were confined to thievery from houses while occupants were away, and the seizure of a few residences, where clothing and other property of a nominal value were stolen.

Poole Issues Orders

Negro Baptist Church $105,000 Relief Fund Is Destroyed by Fire Available to County

Fire of undetermined origin, swept by stiff winds, virtually destroyed the Salem Baptist church, colored, at 481 Martin street, S. E., shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. The flames from the blazing church quickly spread to colored residential structures on each side of the church and threatened for a time to ignite several other houses in the neighborhood.

Several companies of fire apparatus were called to the scene, as well as an extra guard of policemen to keep the crowds back. Persons for many blocks were aroused by the glow of the fire.

Notice was received Wednesday at the office of Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. that the sum of $105,000 had been made available at the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank to Fulton county for relief work. This is the third installment of the four-installment loan to the county from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Governor Russell is authorized by law to draw a check for the amount which, it was said Wednesday, he would do as soon as he returns from a hunting trip on Colonel's island next Monday. The check will be turned over to Fulton county authorities.

BREAKING OF PACT DENIED BY DAIRIES

Producers Agreed to Accept Reduction, Distributors' Statement Says.

Atlanta milk distributors Wednesday night flatly denied the charges made by producers that they have broken their price agreement reached by arbitration at a conference here September 28.

In addition to denying the charge of breach of agreement, the distributors—consisting of heads of five of the city's largest pasteurizing plants—asserted that representatives of the producers had agreed to accept a reduction of one and one-half cents a gallon in the price paid producers for raw milk.

As the result of the signed denial of the Atlanta distributors, it became known Wednesday night for the first time that a meeting of the arbitration commission had been held in Atlanta several weeks ago, at which representatives of the producers had accepted the reduction asked by the distributors. The reduction was from 16 cents a gallon to 14-1/2 cents a gallon, or 2-1/2 cents a gallon more than the price received by the producers prior to the "milk holiday" called by members of the Georgia Milk Producers' Confederation last September.

Producers, prior to the "holiday," had been receiving only 12 cents a gallon for their product.

6-Man Commission Named.
The "holiday" was settled when an arbitration commission of six members—three representing each side—was appointed. Floyd Newton, of Madison; L. O. Benton, of Monticello; and H. H. Hardin, of Forsyth, were representatives of the producers; while B. B. George, president of Pedigree Dairies, Inc.; J. C. Peck, president of Clover Dale Dairies; and W. M. Luckie, president of J. & A. Dairies, represented the distributors.

The statement Wednesday night was issued under the name of the following officials: Peck, Luckie, George, R. F. Olds, president, Modern Milk and Ice Cream Company, Inc., and J. J. McWilliams, president of Techwood Dairies.

"Records prove," the statement asserted, "that the distributors of pasteurized milk have never, at any time, broken their agreement with the producers. There has been no violation whatever by the distributors, either of the letter or spirit of contracts entered into."

Changed by Agreement.
The statement goes on to contend that changes in the price of milk following the recent strike "were made by mutual agreement between distributors and producers, with the exception of the price to the consumers, which was established by the distributors."

After claiming that distributors of pasteurized milk are paying more for their milk than when the strike was called and are selling it at no increase in price to the retailers, the distributors' statement says:

"In accordance with the terms of the strike agreement, the distributors on October 1 began paying the producers 16 cents a gallon, an increase of 4 cents a gallon over the price being paid when the strike was called. The distributors also raised the price of milk to consumers."

"Drop in consumption of milk caused such heavy losses to the distributors under the new price that the commission was petitioned to revise prices. This was done at a meeting of the full commission, attended by three representatives of the distributors and three representatives of the producers."

Consumer's Price Reduced.
"The commission decreased the price to producers 1-1/2 cents a gallon, which still gave the producers a price of 1-1/2 cents a gallon higher than they got before the strike. Although under this new price authorized by the commission the distributors were paying 2-1/2 cents a gallon more for their milk than before the strike, they reduced the price to the (public) consumer, restoring it to the pre-strike level, where it now stands."

Members of the arbitration commission representing the producers Wednesday night were asked how they voted on the proposal for a reduction of from 16 to 14-1/2 cents. L. O. Benton, of Monticello, refused to say whether he voted for or against the reduction, while Floyd Newton, of Madison, admitted he had voted for it, saying, "there was nothing else we could do."

Under the plans whereby the arbitration board was formed it was agreed that in case of a deadlock the board could not itself agree on selection of a seventh, or neutral, member, it would request Judge John D. Humphries to appoint such a member. Judge Humphries Wednesday night said he has received no request to appoint a neutral member.

CLARENCE H. RHODES DIES AT LOS ANGELES

He is survived by his wife and two small daughters, Mary Catherine and Maude Elizabeth Rhodes; a brother, Charles Rhodes, of El Dorado, Ark., and a sister, Miss Maude A. Rhodes, principal of Whiteford school, Atlanta.

Funeral services and interment were held in California.

Washington Retains Home Demonstrator

TENNESSEE, Nov. 16.—At a recent meeting of the Washington county board of education, of which B. F. Boatright, of Tennessee, is chairman, decision was made to retain the services of the home demonstration agent, Miss Buchanan, for 1933. For the last six months the board refused, as a necessary method of economy, to employ a home demonstrator, and it has been through the efforts of women of the county, who raised the funds for her salary by subscriptions, that the work was continued.

County School Superintendent D. W. Harrison states that he has received this year more local school tax than from that source in several years, and the board has paid the salaries of all teachers up to date, and every school in the county (of which 15 are white) will run full time.

Capone Cynosure of All Eyes As Throngs Battle for View

BY RILEY MCKOY.
At the federal penitentiary out on McDonough road he is just prisoner No. 40,888, but to the Atlantans who pushed and shoved to gain admission to the federal courtroom here Wednesday Alphonse "Scarface" Capone, erstwhile leader of Chicago's gangland, was a figure of keen dramatic interest.

Al was seeking his freedom from the federal pen on a writ of habeas corpus, but the spectators didn't care anything about that—they just wanted to see Al.

Marshal Louis H. Crawford had laid elaborate plans to keep the curious public off the track as long as possible by announcing that Capone would arrive at the federal building at about 10 o'clock. But the word leaked out, or possibly the crowd saw newspaper photographers on the sidewalk. At any rate, when Capone arrived at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, far ahead of the published schedule, there was a veritable mob waiting for a glimpse of him. He was rushed in through another door, however, and the spectators were left out in the cold.

Taken to Marshal's Office.
The first knowledge that Capone was in the postoffice came when he was taken out of the elevator on the Poplar street side of the federal building between Captain C. M. Head, a guard, and Warden A. C. Aderhold. He was attired in the same blue suit with the white pin stripes that he wore when he came to prison. The same gray felt hat adorned his head.

The little party proceeded straight to Marshal Crawford's office, while the marshal and his aids were still waiting at the Walton street entrance. Doors of the courtroom were not opened until 9:30 o'clock and the crowd gathered in the corridor was kept moving by Crawford's deputies.

A deputy marshal went in and estimated the seating capacity of the courtroom and only approximately 100 of those waiting in the streets and milling about in the halls were admitted.

Capone sat hunched in his chair alongside his attorneys, methodically chewing gum and seeming to take but a mild interest in the whole affair. He failed to give the impression of a swaggering gang lord, but rather appeared to be a mild-mannered fellow in a rumpled blue suit mechanically observing a court hearing.

Work Agrees With Him.
Capone's work of manufacturing shoes under a long-term government contract apparently has agreed with him. He has lost very little weight, but he seemed to be in much better condition. His hands, which he kept folded in his lap or cupping his chin, were roughened. There was no prison haircut for Al. He still has his sideburns. He was freshly shaved and his linen was spotless.

There were many women in the courtroom and a goodly sprinkling of lawyers and law students who made voluminous notes. The women powdered their noses and gazed at Capone throughout. One woman, sitting on the bench usually assigned to prisoners, pushed a man's arm from a brass railing so that she could see.

A deputy marshal went in and estimated the seating capacity of the courtroom and only approximately 100 of those waiting in the streets and milling about in the halls were admitted.

Commerce Figures Show Loss in Seagoing Tonnage of 2,982,659 Tons.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Documented craft comprising the United States merchant marine numbered 25,154 vessels of 15,838,655 gross tons on June 30.

These figures were given today in the annual report of the commerce department's bureau of navigation. Seagoing vessels of over 1,000 tons each were reported to number 1,967 for an aggregate tonnage of 9,922,771.

The bureau said 928 vessels of 5,270,979 tons were engaged in foreign trade and 1,280 vessels of 4,556,443 tons were in the coasting trade. The number of vessels of 1,000 tons or more decreased by 31 in the 1932 fiscal year.

Since June 30, 1921, the bureau said, coasting trade, exclusive of the Great Lakes, had increased 2,305,597 gross tons. During the same 11 years the seagoing tonnage decreased 2,982,659 tons.

During the fiscal year 722 vessels of 212,892 gross tons were reported built while 98 more were said to be under contract. On last June 30, it added, laid-up tonnage of the United States aggregated 3,603,426 tons, an increase of more than a million gross tons in 12 months.

better and then placed her own arm on the rail in his place. A smartly dressed little fellow sitting behind Capone was John Capone, his brother. The lawyers said so, but he himself denied it. However, when a recess was taken for five minutes, Capone and the slender fellow, who looked so much like him, broke into animated conversation. Capone smiled broadly and laughed aloud once. Warden Aderhold admitted that it was John Capone. John was the only man Al spoke to aside from his attorneys and his guards.

On leaving the courtroom he shook hands with his attorneys and grinned. The crowd rushed to the outside and milled around all entrances. A few minutes later Capone, seemingly embarrassed and carrying his gray hat in his hands to hide the handcuffs, was escorted from the Walton street entrance. John slipped out a side door unobserved.

Cameo circled. Several in the crowd called greetings. A movie camera in an upstairs window ground away. And Al Capone was whisked away after being "Mister" Capone for a few hours, to become once more No. 40,888 until his term is up, unless Judge Underwood rules he can go free.

DR. BUTLER SCORES VET EXPENDITURES

Educator Sees Present System as Affront to Patriotic Service Men.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Elimination of special, or group, appropriations and the $400,000,000 annual payment to war veterans was called for by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler tonight as the first step in reducing the federal budget.

"The budget must be balanced," he said. "And the return of prosperity is to be hastened by taking the hand of government off the taxpayers' throat and by greatly reducing expenditures for purposes that have been forced into the budget by the organized efforts of special groups of the population."

The Columbia University president, addressing members of the National Economy League, said the payments made to veterans of past wars and their relatives was "the greatest scandal in our history."

"There is no question of the nation's obligation and desire to care for veterans in military service and for the families of those killed," he added. "But to go beyond that and to say that a man who has been honorably in military service, or even actually so, and who became partially disabled or partially dependent several years after his discharge, is still to become a direct charge upon the public treasury, is something which ought to affront the pride of every veteran who fought for his country out of patriotism."

Floridan Killed.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16.—(AP)—J. F. Fowler, 65, salesman, died tonight of injuries he received November 9 when he was struck by an automobile truck driven by G. C. Collins.

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature.

WAS WORTH MORE TO HIM THAN ALL THE COTTON IN GA.

GEORGE W. SMITH

The records of Sargon are filled with voluntary endorsements from men and women, who, out of pure gratitude, want the public to know about the medicine that has meant so much to them. In every city where it has been introduced, this modern compound has made hundreds of life-long friends, who testify that Sargon brought them new health and strength after all other treatments had apparently failed.

The following statement was made by George W. Smith, 35 Little St., Atlanta, formerly a farmer but now engaged in the building business.

"Most of my life was spent on a farm in South Georgia. In 1918 I made 200 bales of cotton, and in 1919, 3 bales. That's what the boll weevil did for me. Then, about a year and a half ago, my health failed me, and I think I have had my share of hard knocks. But I have had my rewards too, and one of the greatest of these has been Sargon. It gave me my health back, and that has been worth more to me than all the cotton in Georgia."

"When I began to lose my appetite and have a lot of stomach trouble, I knew something was wrong. My skin took on a yellowish cast and I was headachy, constipated and bilious. I finally decided to try the Sargon treatment, as all the other medicines I tried failed to help me. And I was never more surprised in my life at my quick and remarkable improvement. Before I had finished the first bottle I was enjoying my food again, without the slightest trace of stomach trouble. My skin has cleared, and I've gained seven pounds. I tackle my work with a vigor I haven't felt in years."

"Thanks to Sargon Soft Mass Pills, constipation and biliousness are ended and I am sure grateful for all these two fine medicines have done for me."

This remarkable medicine may be obtained from Jacobs Pharmacy—(adv.)

Schools Not to Close, Asserts M. L. Duggan

Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, said Wednesday that he believed all of the schools of the state would be kept open for the full regular term despite slowness of collection of local taxes and a 14 per cent reduction in state appropriations.

The prospects are that the schools will continue open until the Christmas holidays and then reopen in January, as usual. Dr. Duggan said, however, that he had discussed the situation with his supervisors, J. O. Martin, of north Georgia; J. S. Smith, of south Georgia; J. C. Dixon, of southwest Georgia, and J. C. Dixon, special supervisor for negro schools.

Errant Pigeon Wrecks Grand Central's Peace

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A pigeon flew into the Grand Central terminal today and spent the day playing hide and seek with the station master, the board of maintenance, a special committee of public porters armed with ladders and kernels of corn, two agents of the A. Climbing apparatus was strewn all over the upper and lower levels and about the main concourse when, at dusk, the playful pigeon disappeared into the black void of the dome over the foyer.

YOUR CAR WILL NEED ANTI-FREEZE TONIGHT EVEREADY PRESTONE

You're right—it's cold. And you need anti-freeze in the cooling-system of your car at once! In unheated garages, and out on the street, cars won't be safe tonight without an anti-freeze. You must act quickly—go to your dealer or garage-man and have him put in Eveready Prestone without delay. Why Eveready Prestone rather than something else . . . ?

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY ANTI-FREEZE, read these facts

EVEREADY PRESTONE is different from all other anti-freezes—there is nothing else like it. In developing Eveready Prestone, the laboratories of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation, keeping in mind the requirements of the U. S. Bureau of Standards for an ideal anti-freeze, have perfected a product that satisfies the following specifications:

Eveready Prestone does not boil away. So it does not require frequent renewals, nor does it leave the car unprotected when a cold snap follows warm weather.

The fumes of boil-away products may mar the finish of fine cars. Smelly fumes also make winter driving unpleasant, and inflammable mixtures increase the hazard of accidents. Eveready Prestone is non-inflammable and odorless. It will not affect your car finish. And it is thoroughly effective in preventing freezing.

Eveready Prestone circulates freely at the lowest operating temperatures. Yet it will not "creep." A heavy, viscous fluid, which is not free-flowing, is a poor cooling agent. Other substances in use may "creep"—leak from systems that are water-tight, but not tight enough to hold these liquids.

Many products, because of their thickness in the concentrated form, are sold as water-diluted solutions. The cost of canning and shipping plain water is thus borne by the public. Eveready Prestone is packaged as a concentrated product, not water-diluted. It's ALL anti-freeze! You know what you are getting for your money!

NOW REDUCED IN PRICE Eveready Prestone now comes to you at a substantial reduction in price. Today it offers the safest and most economical anti-freeze you can buy for all-winter protection.

And Eveready Prestone also brings you protection against rust and corrosion. On brass, copper, solder, aluminum and zinc, it reduces the corrosive action of the water in the cooling-system at least 75%. On cast iron, 95%.

Eveready Prestone is approved by all car-manufacturers and guaranteed by National Carbon Company. Put it in—today.

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC. General Offices: New York, N. Y. Unit of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation

● THIS POPULAR-PRICE CAR, operating in a cold-weather zone, needs only one-half gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone to protect it all winter long. Cost $2.25. No scale, no corrosion—absolute safety.

If you buy a water-diluted anti-freeze for this car, remember that you are paying for a large amount of plain, ordinary water, as well as for anti-freeze material. The low cost per gallon, therefore, cannot be compared with the cost per gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Obviously, you will need a much greater amount of the diluted product to get the same protection.

If boil-away anti-freeze is used, there must be one-half gallon in the cooling-system every time the thermometer drops to 20° F. Cost (?) . . . it depends on the number of cold snaps. Meanwhile, frequent renewals, checking, trouble and bother.

● THIS MEDIUM-SIZE CAR, in an average-weather zone, needs only one gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Cost $4.45. All-winter protection against freezing, rust, clogging and corrosion.

The cost of enough water-diluted anti-freeze to give this car the same protection cannot be computed unless you know how much anti-freeze and how much water there is in the product you buy. Some brands contain as much as 55% plain water. Low cost per gallon, therefore, means nothing.

If boil-away anti-freeze is used, the cost per season may be great deal more than the cost of Eveready Prestone. Meanwhile, no certain, sure protection through all weather changes. No protection against rust and corrosion.

● THIS LARGE CAR, operating in a zero-weather zone, needs only two gallons of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Cost $8.90. Complete peace of mind for the owner of a valuable car. You can buy a water-diluted anti-freeze at a lower cost per gallon, but you will have to buy much more than two gallons to get the same protection. How much more will depend on the amount of water in the product. Therefore, the cost per gallon of such anti-freeze means nothing.

If boil-away anti-freeze is used, two full gallons must be present every time the temperature drops to zero. The cost may easily exceed the cost of Eveready Prestone. Meanwhile, no certain protection against freezing—none at all against corrosion.

R. Kibby Clark, assistant editor of Shell Globe, official publication of the corporation, has been in Atlanta gathering data for a special article on Atlanta to be printed in the November-December issue.

youth's right lung. Immediately after he reached the hospital radio appeals over the police radio station and over WGST were made for donors of blood. Within a short while several had offered to submit to the transfusion.

Mrs. Sturdivant, though unable to offer a reason for the suicide attempt, told police she had a premonition that something was wrong when her son left home for school Wednesday. After leaving, she said, he returned to his room where he picked up some object and placed it in his pocket.

Professor W. O. Cheney, principal at Tech High school, said young Sturdivant came to the school early Wednesday morning but left later, attending no classes. Cadet associates at the school said the boy appeared to be depressed.

Instructors at the school said Sturdivant had been a diligent student and Tuesday had been promoted to the cadet rank of sergeant. He was a member of the school band and was a familiar figure in the police band, as he carried the flag in parades.

Captain J. A. Scharf, director of the band, said the chief's son attended band practice Tuesday night with a pistol in his possession. The youth had accompanied his father on numerous raids and was looked upon by officers as a keen detective in his own right.

When the report of the shot was heard, P. H. Swartzwalder, of 944 Hartford street, saw the boy fall. He and E. B. Schumpert, of 412 Peters building, rushed to his side and summoned patrolmen nearby.

Besides their son, Chief and Mrs. Sturdivant have only a daughter, Mrs. Lamar Johnston, 24, who is an office worker at the Federal Reserve bank here.

BELFAST GREET'S
PRINCE OF WALES

ing: "The line will be ripped up and mined in several places. The train must not proceed or it will be fired on."

The royal Ulster constabulary, mobilized to its full force, a detachment of Irish guards from the London barracks and a veritable army of secret police mixed in the crowds and lined the route of the procession.

Ordinarily the prince is escorted by five Scotland Yard men. Today he was accompanied by eleven, all under strict instruction not to let the royal heir out of their sight during the three days of his Belfast visit.

The organized forces of the law were reinforced by 10,000 members of the loyal Orange order who lined the five-mile route from Donegall Quay, where the prince landed, to Stormont, seat of the new buildings given to northern Ireland by Great Britain.

The prince, accompanied by the governor-general, the Duke of Abercorn and other government officials, was taken over the route by automobile. Wales returned to Belfast to be welcomed at city hall after the ceremony.

Tonight he was a guest at a brilliant house party given by the Duke of Abercorn at Hillsborough.

The remaining two days will be spent in sight-seeing and in various social functions.

WATERWAY OPPOSED AS AGRICULTURE AID

Export Bounty on Wheat and Corn Proposed by New Yorker.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(UP)—An export bounty on wheat and corn to increase the farmers' purchasing power by almost $1,000,000,000 was recommended to a senate subcommittee today by Nisbet Grammer, millionaire Buffalo (N. Y.) grain elevator and steamship operator, who appeared in opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway project.

Grammer said changes in freight rates brought about by the waterway would not help the farmer. He proposed instead that the government place an export bounty of 20 cents a bushel on wheat and corn. His proposal was similar to the export bounty farm relief program which has been before congress on many occasions.

Farmers of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, Grammer predicted, would receive less for their winter wheat shipped through the gulf ports if the waterway is completed.

He declared only a small amount of American wheat would be available for export via the Great Lakes to Europe, but in comparison more than 300,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat would be ready for shipment.

Samuel B. Botsford, general manager of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce, which is opposing the waterway, submitted a brief pointing out hundreds of millions of dollars would be spent on the project whose economic value was described as speculative.

The benefit to the American people from such expenditures would not justify the burden of additional debt and taxation, Botsford maintained.

Following a turkey breakfast at 4 a. m., the governor's party was at the roosts before dawn. Adjutant General Charles Cox was the first to land one of the game birds, and he was followed by C. W. Gregory and Frank Scarlett, his recent campaign manager, and Bob Price, all of whom got fair-sized birds. The governor's usual good luck wasn't with him on this opening hunt.

U. S. OFFICIAL DENIES SEEKING GANG AID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, in a statement today denied his office had anything to do with Charles A. Lindbergh's decision to seek underworld aid in the search for his kidnapped son.

The denial was of published assertions attributed to Inspector Harry W. Walsh, of the Jersey City police, to the effect that Colonel Henry Breckenridge, friend of Lindbergh, had telephoned Hoover soon after the kidnaping, and had been told the "best informer at his command" would be sent to the Lindbergh home.

2. To allow the city to regulate municipal primaries.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

METHODISTS OPEN ALBANY MEETING

South Georgia Conference
Hears Bishop Moore
Call for Leadership.

BY W. H. MOBLEY.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 16.—(P)—Bishop John M. Moore opened the South Georgia Methodist conference tonight with a call to members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to accept responsibility for guiding the world through a period of distress.

"We must face these conditions because nobody else will face them," he said. "We are charged with the great spiritual power, not dependent on trade conditions, which cannot be put in a laboratory, and which is not subject to the mandates of a political party. The church today is the most influential factor in American life, and when it asserts itself in the spirit of true religion it will listen."

Mayor J. S. Billingsley welcomed the delegates to Albany with a declaration that world conditions appear to be improving. He said, however, that business and spiritual revival depended on "faith that only people like you can develop."

The board of Christian education presented a portion of its report at the opening session to make way tomorrow morning for a discussion of the Wesleyan College campaign for $1,250,000.

A program of financial retrenchment for 1933 was planned later today by the board of missions of the conference.

The mission board decided by resolution that in the future no missionary appropriations would be made to churches where the pastor was paid as much as $1,200 yearly. A decision also was made to discontinue a half dozen missions and to add only one.

Those discontinued are Butler and Howard, of the Vidalia circuit; Scotty, of the Barclay circuit; Screven and Ludovic, of the Brunswick circuit. The new mission created was Elko.

City of Gainesville Burns Bonds, Becoming Debt Free Until 1940

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 16.—Gainesville became debt free until 1940, when $178,469.70 worth of bonds were burned at a special celebration at the city hall on Wednesday afternoon. Dan S. Denton, city manager; Owen A. McDermid, mayor, and George Moore and Byron Mitchell, commissioners, officiated at the ceremony, to which the public was invited.

The bonds disposed of represented expenditures on schools, sewers and street improvements, which were floated in 1902, 30 years ago. Others were street paving bonds and interest on same, issued in 1924, 1925 and 1926.

According to City Manager Denton, the next bonds do not come due until 1940, and plans have been formulated whereby a sinking fund will be maintained to meet these needs.

The present administration has received high commendation on the accomplishments made during their regime. Last year they set a record on trade conditions, which cannot be put in a laboratory, and which is not subject to the mandates of a political party. The church today is the most influential factor in American life, and when it asserts itself in the spirit of true religion it will listen."

U. S. FARM LOAN POLICY AWAITS RALEIGH BANK

MACON, Ga., Nov. 16.—(P)—The Macon branch of the Agricultural Credit Corporation will not be in position to accept applications for loans until organization of the regional bank in Raleigh, N. C., has been completed and the policy for crop production loans established.

This statement was made today by H. Persons Heath, manager of the Macon branch of the corporation, after newspaper stories had been published from Atlanta that a loan for $1,000,000 was to be sought by peach growers from the Macon bank.

His only guide at the present time, Mr. Heath said, is the bill creating the bank. This provides that "loans have to be fully and adequately secured." Even after the policy of the bank has been defined by the regional organization, Mr. Heath does not consider it likely that a loan would be made to a group of peach growers, as such loans, if on a basis similar to other crop production loans, would be made individually.

'CONFESSION' REFUSED BY REMBERT SMITH

SPARTA, Ga., Nov. 16.—Dr. Rembert G. Smith, former pastor of the North Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and vigorous opponent of so-called "Canonism" in the church, who was suspended for one year, which is now nearly completed, gave out a statement here in which he stated that presiding elders of the conference have written him asking that he write confessing he was guilty of "contumacious conduct" and stating that he will not request pardon by the conference, but will not oppose his return to the conference when next it meets. In reply to this offer Dr. Smith, in his statement, says:

"While these presiding elders may have intended this as a proposal of mercy, their act regarding it is due to their ignoring certain well-known facts. They know that I do not consider that I have been guilty of contumacious, rebellion, or stirring of dissension, or bitterness of spirit. In spite of this they offer me a safe passage out of the conference if I will make a confession contrary to my well-known convictions, and they add that if I do not thus insincerely and falsely confess, that they will unite in charging me with contumacy and the stirring of dissension."

"This is a most amazing proposal when made by eminent leaders of Methodism, once defined as having for its purpose to spread Scriptural holiness over these lands."

"I do not and cannot regard it to be anything but an insulting temptation and I have refused to yield to it."

Fight colds this year at one-third the ordinary cost

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes 3 times as far. And whether you buy the 25c, 50c, or $1 size, you still get 3 times as much for your money.

THE children—the whole family—can escape more colds this year. Can get quicker relief from those they catch. And you can save $2 out of every $3 by using Pepsodent Antiseptic. The money you save results from Pepsodent's remarkably high germ-killing power.

Here's the difference! It's a simple problem of arithmetic. Pepsodent is three times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics—by adding water it goes three times as far—gives you three times as much for your money—and gives you extra protection against sore throat colds and unpleasant breath.

The old-fashioned mouth washes must be used full strength to be effective. So Pepsodent Antiseptic was made powerful enough to be diluted and still kill germs in less than 10 seconds—yet it is completely safe when used full strength.

Don't risk health It's costly enough to use a mouth wash that should be used full strength. But it's more costly to dilute that mouth wash and not kill the germs. That's why we warn you to choose an antiseptic that, even when diluted, kills germs. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be safe. Safeguard health and save money.

IMPURE BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

EXPERT URGES SAFETY MEASURES FOR CITY

Over 100 automobile service men were the guests of the Harris Wheel and Rim Company on Wednesday night to hear Fred W. Parks, nationally known safety appliance director, talk on safety in automobile operation.

Mr. Parks, one of the best informed men on state safety laws in the country, submitted facts and figures to prove that where states had adopted the driver license or "safety" laws a large decrease in motor accidents and fatalities had resulted.

Mr. Parks came here as the guest of J. A. Harris, president of the Harris Wheel and Rim Company. At the meeting he had on display a complete set of service equipment especially designed to give accurate tests of various parts of a car for their safety, including brakes, lights, wheel alignment and steering.

One of the purposes of the meeting was to organize Atlanta service men into a safety group to encourage service that would make cars safe and reduce the city's accidents to a minimum.

Mr. Parks has been on a tour of the country taking his message to service men. From Atlanta he went to New Orleans.

Move to Send 1,000 Families Back to Farms
Is Launched by Forward Georgia Committee

A movement entailing the expenditure of $50,000 to send a thousand families back to good Georgia farm lands was launched at a luncheon of the Forward Georgia Committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, when members pledged their support to the program of farm rehabilitation sponsored by the chamber.

Based on estimates given by leaders at the luncheon, which placed the necessary cost of transferring such families back to the farms at $50 per family, the whole project, it was explained, could be carried out on a fund of $50,000. Each family would be allowed to borrow the $50 incident to the transfer, and repayment, under the proposal, can be made when the families have become rehabilitated.

Roy LeCraw, president of the chamber, presided at the luncheon, and Mayor James L. Key, Jack Williams, president of the Georgia Press Association, and other members of the city government were present.

Mr. LeCraw said that 50,000 Georgia farms had been abandoned following the exodus that started in 1923, and that many of these farm people were represented in the 45,000 persons now on charity in Atlanta. Sixty families, he added, had been returned to the farms, every one of whom was on charity here. Now only eight families were still receiving aid.

Only $5 or $6 a month was required for these families, Mr. LeCraw said.

COMPTON M'KENZIE
FACES MAGISTRATE
IN "SECRETS" CASE

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—One of Great Britain's best known novelists, Compton MacKenzie, faced a magistrate in police court today on charges filed under the dreaded "official secrets act."

The charge was "unlawfully communicating" information gained in the government service.

MacKenzie was attached to the British intelligence service in southeastern Europe during the war. He recently published a book, "Greek Memories," dealing among other things with his experiences in the intelligence service.

The volume was withdrawn from circulation on the very day of publication, however, and prosecution of MacKenzie followed. It was decided at the beginning of the proceedings that certain parts of the evidence should be taken in camera.

MacKenzie was charged with having communicated to the public information obtained in the intelligence service.

FARM STRIKE PLAN WINS TACIT FAVOR

National Union "Suggests" Movement for "Careful Consideration"

OMAHA, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Although failing to endorse directly the program of the Farmers' Holiday Association, delegates to the annual convention of the National Farmers' Union today passed a resolution suggesting the farm strike movement as a matter for "careful consideration."

Sympathetic in tone, the resolution was one of several presented by the resolutions committee, all of which were passed.

Other resolutions adopted called for:

- Remonetization of silver at 16 to 1 as a step toward equality for agriculture and a revival of business.
- Included direct endorsement of Senator Wheeler's monetization bill.
- Higher income taxes, the revenue to be divided between the national government and the states.
- Exemption of small farms and homes from all taxes except income taxes.
- Passage of the Swank bill licensing dealers in agricultural products and requiring dealers to pay farmers the cost of production as computed by the department of agriculture.
- Reduction of government costs, rather than discovery of new sources of revenue, to be the basis of a moratorium on debts, public and private, at a low rate of interest.
- The convention endorsed the Frazier bill calling for government refinancing of farm mortgages.
- Readjustment of certain live stock rates involving reshaping and sorting, in opposition to a move now under way by packers.
- A condemnation of the militaristic attitude fostered by educational institutions.
- An inheritance tax bill that would limit any inheritance to $500,000.

Constitution Insurance Offers Investment Plus the Security

Do the words, "good investment," interest you?

Chances are they do, if you are an average, thoughtful and ambitious American.

Then let's talk about an investment that is the safest and safest you possibly could make; an investment that costs you almost nothing and holds forth possibility of returns many thousand-fold; an investment that will pour gold into your lap when you need it most of all.

It's an excellent thing to consider investment possibilities in expending your money, but in addition to this sterling feature, The Constitution's offer to you usually should appeal to you as a means of safeguarding the life and well-being of those who are dependent on you.

You can't tell when a train wreck, a crash of automobiles or public carriers, the crushing wheels of a speeding automobile, a burning home or theater, or many other daily hazards to life and limb will claim you as a victim.

The Constitution offers you the famous travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago. This insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscription going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy. All this for only $1 registration fee—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill. The reliability of this concern is proved by the fact that already more than $150,000 in cash has been paid on claims to Constitution policy holders.

This insurance is offered to old and new subscribers alike. One who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for some through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Paid-in-advance mail subscribers can also have this insurance by paying the small registration fee of $1 in addition to the subscription price.

Those living in Atlanta and suburbs finding it inconvenient to pay the $1 registration fee in advance can pay 20 cents registration fee with the application and 20 cents for five consecutive weeks thereafter in addition to the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of the beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

It's a most interesting and authoritative address before the Atlanta Advertising Club, November 17, 1932, at the Ansley hotel yesterday.

Mr. Morey's subject was, "Making Advertising More Effective in 1933."

Mr. Morey is the creator of the present Sinclair advertising copy which has attracted country-wide attention. His address was broadcast over WGST as well as the entire program for the meeting.

He said, in part: "There is no definite rule for the creation of successful advertising. But there is one rule that must be kept in mind at all times; dullness has no place in advertising. We cannot presuppose an interest, we must see that such interest is the foremost point in each advertisement we create. Get over one good point and stress it thoroughly; reader interest will then take care of itself."

Mr. Morey then showed examples of advertising in the Sinclair "Fly Farm," which doubled their business in a year's time. He also told how he created the idea behind the now famous Sinclair "animals," and how they have attracted attention in all sections of the country.

A musical program was furnished by the Tunes of WGST, including the Tunes of Twoems, Margie Bullard and Eunice Jernigan. Ted Doolittle, the Village Nutmeg, furnished a very enjoyable comedy incident to the occasion.

Mr. Morey and J. F. Beck, the latter with the Federal Advertising Agency of New York city, left Atlanta Wednesday afternoon for the east.

BEER, REPEAL MOVES ADVANCE IN CAPITAL

Even Defeated "Dry" Will Vote Wet in December, Says Celler.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Moves to legalize beer and submit repeal of the eighteenth amendment at the December session of congress were the subject of continued discussion today on Capitol Hill.

Plans were afoot among anti-prohibitionists to organize soon to present a united front on beer legislation in the house. On the senate side, Senator Fess, of Ohio, former republican prohibition leader, said he saw no "real obstacles to passing a repeal resolution at the short session."

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, democratic floor leader, said he had ascertained that "considerable sentiment has developed for action on beer legislation at the coming session" and that he saw no objection.

Representative Celler, democrat, New York, who has been an advocate of beer for years, said in a statement: "There undoubtedly will be sufficient votes in the December congress, in both houses to pass a beer and wine bill. The rebuke to the 'drys' has been so severe that even defeated 'drys,' having their eyes on the elections two years hence, will be compelled to vote 'wet' in December."

The New Yorker estimated that with beer and light wines legalized $400,000,000 revenue would be returned annually, and that a "hot-dog high-ball" were legalized it would amount to $1,000,000,000.

Senator Fess said he favors the republican proposal to submit an amendment retaining power in congress to fix the conditions under which liquor would be sold and that congress is obligated to give the people an opportunity to vote on the question. The Ohioan added, however, that he favored "a sane approach to the question and sane legislation."

Representative Sabath, democrat, Illinois, member of the house wet bloc, said he would press for action on beer at the coming session, but that he favored "a sane approach to the question and sane legislation."

After she sat down at the piano and played several Chopin themes, all difficulties were quickly straightened out. She was admitted.

AROUND LOCAL CONTRACT TABLES

by Whitner Cary

Once upon a time there was a fine bridge player named Henry Chanin. At the same time there were two other very good bridge players by the names of Charlie May and Charlie Mion. Now it did so happen that the two Charlies were partners against Chanin and another very fine player when our story opens.

Charlie dealt and held the following hand:

S-A K Q J 9 5 2
H-7 4
D-9 4 2
C-6

His partner, Charlie Mion, held this assortment:

S-
H-6
D-K J 9 7 6 3
C-A K Q 9 4 2

Not being vulnerable and rather fancying his spade holding, Mr. May called one spade, "Two," from Mr. Chanin's partner. "Three clubs," boldly spoke Charlie Mion, who has never been accused of timidity. "Three spades," eagerly replied Mr. Chanin. "Three no-trumps," retorted Mr. Mion. The bidding from that point on went in a monotonous refrain of spades from Mr. May and no-trumps from Mr. Mion. As no-trumps rank spades, it can easily be seen by the casual observer that Mr. Chanin held a slight advantage in the battle to secure the bid. Seven no-trumps was finally reached by the said Mr. Mion. As the books do not recognize a higher bid than this, Mr. Chanin was forced to become an interested spectator. When the seven no-trump contract was reached, Mr. Chanin, having the ace of hearts, gleefully doubled. Those having weak hearts and sentimental natures are now advised to turn to other sections of this newspaper.

For those of a strong constitution let us continue. Brother Chanin, sensing that the hand was a misfit and hoping to get a tremendous set, failed to lead his heart ace but elected to lead through the spades. Result: Mr. Mion reached the dummy by the only possible means (having no spades in his hand), cashed his good spade tricks and then proceeded to run his good clubs, making his grand slam doubled. To add to the horrors of the situation, it might be mentioned that Mr. Chanin's partner held the balance of the heart strength and in addition the diamond ace. As a result, had he heart been opened the contract would have been set seven tricks.

All of which goes to show that even the best and certainly Henry Chanin is among the leading bridge players of this section, can meet disaster at times.

And that, my little readers, is the story of one of the biggest bridge swings ever possible in this city. Next time at this same hour you will hear the story of how Henry Chanin lost the bad ugly spade king. Then, if you can stand the rebalancing of the unhappy story, I will recall to you how Whitner Cary made the worst bid ever made in Atlanta and gave his opponents in a team-of-four match a swing of some 4,000 points. I punish myself once every three months by repeating that classic of stupidity.

The bridge game in Atlanta has become, "Get Margaret Wager for a partner and go pick up the cup." In the last four tournaments in which this brilliant player has performed he has won three of them. In the other one she was beaten by one-half point.

Her latest triumph was on Monday evening when, paired with Whitner Cary, she won the Mayfair tournament with a 70 per cent game and with a score that distanced her nearest rivals by 23 points. If memory serves me correct, that is the second highest score ever made in a pair tournament in Atlanta. The 71 per cent game turned in recently at the Atlanta Bridge game by Mrs. O. B.

Keeler and Mrs. Claude Williamson stands at the top.

Tuesday evening saw the clan gathered at Mrs. Emma McDaniel's studio for the regular weekly battle at this attractive arena. The evening's activity called for two sections of five tables each. Section A was topped by Mrs. Harry Cannon and Bill Dickey with 47 points. One-half point behind them came Mrs. Gladys Pennington and Jack Oakhurst, while Lewis Hamilton and Whitner Cary were third, with 43.

Section B was won by Miss Ada Tinter and H. S. McCarty, with 42 points. They were pressed closely by Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Fraser, whose 41 1/2 points were good enough for second place. E. B. Fishburn and R. L. Turner were third, with 39.

Remember how Dr. J. C. Wright used to break Clay pigeons at the traps. Well, the doctor has retired from the smoke and din of the traps to the more quiet pastime of golf and bridge. Some may take exception to the statement that the latter is a quiet game. At any rate, the doctor shows the same skill at the bridge table that he used to exhibit at the traps. For instance, look at this hand on which he made four odd in hearts at Mrs. McDaniel's tournament.

Miss Whitehead Goes to Warm Springs To Make Ready the Roosevelt Cottage

Miss Mary Olive Whitehead, of 131 Lakeview avenue, Atlanta, well known throughout Georgia for her work as an interior decorator, left yesterday for Warm Springs, where she will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Michael Hoke at the Roosevelt cottage, to which she goes for the purpose of directing the interior finishing touches of the decorations and furnishings of the Georgia home of the president-elect, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

MISS WHITEHEAD.

Dr. Michael Hoke and Mrs. Hoke reside in the Roosevelt cottage, except for the period when the president-elect and his family are there. They are due to arrive next week and, to have everything in shipshape, Miss Hoke invited Miss Whitehead to be her guest at the cottage while directing the interior work.

Miss Whitehead is well known throughout the state, in many of the cities and towns of which she has done interior decorating and furnishing work. During the past summer Miss Whitehead spent much of her time in Highlands, N. C., furnishing and decorating several new cottages there. She deals direct with manufacturers, often designing her own furnishings, and specializing, where she can, in Georgia products. For instance, in the new homes in Highlands, the furnishings of which were under her direction, she not only designed the furniture, but had it constructed by native woodworkers at that vicinity, and it was most artistically done.

Miss Whitehead studied the graphic arts in Europe, spending much of her time in Paris and Rome, and at the famous Albertina Graphic Arts Museum in Vienna. Advising with her customers and ascertaining what they want, she places orders direct, and has had remarkable success in her work.

Daughters of Confederacy Open 39th Convention at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The south's co-operative tribute to the memory of Jefferson Davis was recalled vividly at the dinner tonight which opened the 39th convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy here.

Mrs. John E. Woodbury, of Louisville, Ky., told the Jefferson Davis highway memorial dinner that the U. D. C. in Georgia, under the direction of Mrs. Robert J. Travis, of Section 10, had just completed a route of over 10 miles of the highway named for the president of the Confederacy. Other states, she said, had not been behind. Mrs. Woodbury is chairman-general of the highway committee.

Tennessee marker was unveiled tonight. It will be placed on a bridge in Obion county. Other Tennessee markers have been placed at the Kentucky and Mississippi lines.

Delegates from as far west as California and as far north as Maine were included among the 200 visiting women registered yesterday.

Cotton was used extensively in the banquet hall's elaborate decorations. Cotton stalks, with wipe-on white bolls, and bales of cotton, were grouped together for decorative effects. The speakers' table contained a miniature cabin surrounded by a cotton field. Place cards were copies of the poem, "Tribute to Cotton," printed on cotton cloth and photographed by the author, Mrs. Virginia Fraser Boyle, poet-laureate of the U. D. C.

Two landmarks of old Memphis, made famous by Jefferson Davis, were destroyed shortly before the convention opened. A home occupied by him in late years a tenement building, colored by the author, Mrs. Virginia Fraser Boyle, poet-laureate of the U. D. C.

The church that Davis attended while he lived here at Court Avenue Presbyterian church, is being torn down to make way for a downtown parking station. Just down the street, however, is another house in which the Confederacy's president lived. It is marked by a bronze plaque.

The Sam Houston Court Avenue Nashville, Tenn., won the Grace Clark cup for obtaining the most new members. It was presented to Mrs. W. C. Cobb, after the convention.

The Mrs. Frank Dennis chapter, of Eatonton, Ga., won the Anna Flagg Harvey cup for the division director obtaining the most new members. Her division had 212.

The Florence Gowanmer prize medal for the division director reporting the second largest increase in new members went to Mrs. Eugene Philway, of North Carolina. She reported 167 new members. The California ranked third with 100.

Miss Evelyn Cole, of Standardsville, Va., was awarded the Mollie Day Daffin medal for the Children of the Confederacy member who performed the greatest service to a veteran of the War Between the States or a heroine of the Confederacy.

The Georgia organization was awarded a medal for being most aggressive in placing books about the war in public schools as supplementary reading.

Literary awards:

Don Rivers, Chesterfield, S. C. the Children's Club chapter, for the best essay on "The Right of Secession."

Honorable mention: Annie Hall Sims, Rock Hill, S. C.

Frank Kopp, Tallahassee, Fla., $5 offered by Mrs. J. T. Burney for the best paper on "Daring Cavalry Raids of the Confederacy."

Margaret Rose, Montague, historian of the Margaret Rose chapter, U. D. C., Little Rock, the Orren Randolph Smith medal for an essay on "The Story of Stratford."

Annie Hall Sims, Rock Hill, S. C. the Mrs. H. W. Eckhardt medal for an essay on "Stonewall Jackson."

Louise Stone McClanahan, Austin, Ala., $5 offered by Mrs. Bennett D. Bell for an essay on "Old Plantation Days."

Heroines of the Confederacy will come to life again here tomorrow night in a colorful, unusual program.

Surprisingly, it won't be the stereotyped, traditional type of southern gentleman who is represented. The honors go to her more aggressive sisters—such a woman as Mrs. Betty Sullivan, who dressed herself in soldier's gray and followed her husband through the war, earning the title of "Mother of the First Tennessee Regiment."

Missouri's heroine, Mrs. Margaret McClure, "Mother of the South," is to be represented by Mrs. Betty Sullivan, who followed her husband through the war, earning the title of "Mother of the First Tennessee Regiment."

The United Daughters of the Confederacy, before whose 39th convention the banquet is to be staged, chose Mrs. A. L. Ridings, of Sherman, Texas, to play the part of the Lone Star state's heroine, Mrs. Lucretia Hadley. When food and other supplies were so hard to get for the soldiers, Mrs. Hadley superintended gathering large amounts from Texas and shipping them north.

After the fall of Baton Rouge, Mrs. William Kirby repeatedly ran the blockade, furnishing food, arms and ammunition to the Confederates. Caught at last, she died in a federal prison when informed that her only son had been killed in battle. Her part was played by Mrs. R. Krause, of Lake Charles, La.

Other heroines of South.

Maryland's Mrs. Rose O'Neil Greenwood, one of the most celebrated and feared of all the Confederate ladies, is to be represented by Mrs. Allen Jemison, and Mrs. Greenwood's daughter, Mrs. McGoff, fitted out a whole company of troops at her own expense, of which her young son was placed in command.

An intimate friend of such leaders as Sherman, Mrs. Greenwood tirelessly and effectively for the Confederacy. Times without number she sent copies of federal orders to the Confederate government and is credited with making McClellan abandon his campaign plans four times. At last she was arrested, but was released and returned to the south, from where Jefferson Davis sent her on diplomatic missions to England and France. Returning from the latter a federal boat pursued her and she demanded to be put adrift in a lifeboat, so she might save her dispatches. Her body later was washed ashore.

Georgia's heroine, Mrs. James Robb, did her work for the south in New York and Chicago. As Elizabeth Church, she married a northerner and left her native state. But behind her husband's back and in defiance of the federal government, she aided captured Confederate soldiers to escape back through the lines or to the south. Mrs. Judith Wiley, of Macon, Ga., will play her part.

A proud mother who fought on after her son's death was selected as South Carolina's heroine. She was Mrs. Cheever McCord, impersonated by Mrs. Susan Rhame of Charleston. Mrs. McCord fitted out a whole company of troops at her own expense, of which her young son was placed in command.

A program centering around vocational guidance was presented by the research committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at the dinner meeting given at the Hotel Wincoff.

Short talks were given by Dr. Maude E. Foster, well-known Atlanta physician; Miss Lois W. Orr, assistant state supervisor of trade and industrial education and connected with the Atlanta Opportunity school; Mrs. Ernest Bell, secretary of Miss Lulu Buncie, supervisor of home economics for Fulton county, and Miss Jane Van De Vrede, executive nurse.

In outlining the program of work of the research committee, Mrs. C. P. Osburn, chairman, gave a comprehensive summary of the present economic situation in its relation to vocational guidance, and urged business and professional women to join with other forces in helping to shape trends for a more equitable production and distribution of business and professional service in this city and country.

Miss Orr speaks.

Miss Orr presented the work of the Opportunity school under the Smith-Hughes act, which gives to young people between the ages of 14 and 18 who are employed on part-time basis, or who are temporarily unemployed, opportunity for training in numerous subjects which will increase their usefulness.

Dr. Foster discussed preventive medicine, which has for its ideal 100 per cent efficiency, superb bodies, energy, vitality, alert minds and wholesome spirits, all of the requisites for health and for getting the most out of life by the most into it.

De Vrede gave a short history of nursing, one of the oldest professions for women. Quoting from statistics she said that there is one nurse for every 200 people, or every 53 families, in Atlanta, with similar figures indicating a great overproduction of nurses throughout the country.

Mrs. Bell pleaded for a deeper understanding between men and women who now meet in the business and professional world to offer their contributions to the social and economic life of the community. Miss Buncie talked of home economics in its various phases, illustrating with charts which show that home economics is a subject centering around practically all problems of the home and other institutions, the study of food, shelter, and clothing from the standpoint of hygiene, economics, art and the relation of members of the family to each other and to society, being involved.

Wine Prize.

It was announced that Miss Imogene Sigmon, winner of the local club's poster contest recently conducted, also won the prize offered by the Georgia State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs for the poster of the national federation.

C., past presidents; from the Woman's Bible class of the Druid Hills church, and from Dr. Joseph M. Broughton, superintendent of the Sunday school, who was absent.

The members present each gave 10 cents as a special tribute offering. Mrs. A. R. Brown, teacher, delivered a tribute to the class, specially adapted from the lesson scripture. There were 258 members and former members present and the offering for the class was $27.40.

W. S. Jones, of Atlanta, husband of the first teacher, brought the parting benediction.

Miss Ruth Dabney Smith, only violinist on the program, played "Prelude from First Concerto in G Minor," Bruch, with Mrs. Julius De Givning sympathetic accompaniment. Miss Smith's interpretations were good, and her musical insight was clear.

Miss Elizabeth Hopson revealed a dependable technique and a round, powerful tone in two studies, the first Chopin's "Opus 25, No. 3," the second a concert étude of Liszt in F minor.

Mrs. Vivian Russell Graf represented dramatic turbulence in the last, "Etude in G Flat, Opus 24," Moszkowski.

DUKE ELEVEN HOPES TO WRITE GRID HISTORY

Blue Devils Never Have Beaten Tar Heels in Long Rivalry.

By the Associated Press.

Duke's Blue Devils hope to write football history Saturday by defeating North Carolina for the first time in their long years of football rivalry.

Duke's position with North Carolina is similar to Dartmouth's with Yale. Never has the big Green team from Hanover been able to overcome its jinx and whip the Elmen and never has Duke succeeded in beating the Tar Heels.

Carolina handed Duke a 48 to 7 pasting in 1929, but for the last two years Duke has held the university to scoreless deadlocks.

Despite its loss to North Carolina State a week ago, Duke rules a favorite over the Tar Heels as a result of its fine play against Auburn, Tennessee and Kentucky, three of the strongest teams in the south.

More than 20,000 spectators are expected at Chapel Hill to see Wallace Wade's Duke team match skill with the eleven coached by Charles "Chuck" Collins with the state championship at stake.

Down at Gainesville, Florida will seek its first conference victory in its new stadium over Georgia Tech. The new plant was opened in 1930 and Florida was beaten badly by Alabama.

Georgia won from the Alligators a year ago and North Carolina played the team to a 0-0 tie.

For years Florida has journeyed to Atlanta to meet Tech and this is the first time in two decades that the Yellow Jackets have moved south to battle Florida. In honor of this invasion Georgia Tech will carry its 50-piece band. Special trains will carry hundreds of fans from Atlanta.

THE SPORTLIGHT

Football Cognomens.
The Bulldog and the Tiger, the Panther and the Lion,
The Badger and the Wildcat—each ripping from his lair;
The Wolverine and Gopher—each one a jungle scion,
And if you look again you'll see the Brown and Golden Bear.

Look—there's the Trojan war horse now dashing to the fray;
The Huskies and the Long Horns are swarming into view;
In place of watching football teams, I'd rather spend the day
In seeing all of them at once around some leading zoo.

The Golden Tornado is sweeping,
And here comes the Crimson Tide;
The Green Wave is lashing and leaping;
The South Bend Simoon takes a ride;
I ask you—against set compulsions,
With harrowing havoc arrayed,
Must nature turn into convulsions
Each time that a kick-off is made?

Saturday will present an afternoon all littered up with problems of football importance.

1. Can Michigan take the final hurdle against a Minnesota team, which has shown its share of potential strength more than once?

2. Will Yale or Harvard salvage enough from a rather dour Blue and Crimson season to produce three rousing cheers?

3. Can Fordham, which rolled back St. Mary's powerful team in defense of eastern football prestige, hand the same jolt to Oregon State, which was strong enough to hold the conquering Southern California team to 10 points?

4. Within one step of a clean-up season, can Auburn slip past a Georgia team, which will be at its peak for the first time this fall?

5. Can Columbia finish out a hard season where only one point stands between the Lion and a campaign minus a single defeat?

6. Will the highly explosive Boiler-makers of Purdue smear Indiana sufficiently to stand the strongest offensive machine of the year, thereby insuring George Ake a pleasant winter?

On the records of the two teams to date there isn't much to choose in the way of any pronounced margin.

Two Old-Timers.
It isn't often that Harvard and Yale and California and Stanford meet in their traditional uprisings with such low averages.

Yale has three ties, two defeats and one win. Harvard, in her major games, has two victories, one defeat and one rout. California has dropped four games and Stanford has lost three. So Harvard and Yale can cheer up a bit. They at least are not running behind two of the old-time powers of the western coast.

The main point is that both sets of rivals are so closely matched that no upset would take place, whatever happened.

The faint Blue shade that Yale may have over Harvard in the advance checking isn't strong enough to mean anything like a distinct edge. Stanford looks to have more of a margin over California, but Stanford has been a disappointment more than once this fall. There seems to be a lack of speed and a lot of faulty kicking.

In times past these two games have been good for crowds of more than 75,000 each, and there will be little drop in attendance this week. Both will pass the 70,000 count, which has been the record for the last two years.

There's nothing like stopping an impending champion to soothe old wounds and clean up past deficits. This football business is a great game for the underdog.

Michigan and Minnesota, with Georgia and Auburn, make up another pair of old-fashioned camp meetings, which date back for more than 30 years. In these two parties Michigan and Auburn, carrying unassailable shields into action, are the favorites; but neither is safely past the poisoned blow darts dipped in the venom of the fer-de-lance.

Georgia and Minnesota expect to shoot their lives as dearly as possible, shooting the entire repertoire in an attempt to crack a championship march.

There's nothing like stopping an impending champion to soothe old wounds and clean up past deficits. This football business is a great game for the underdog.

GREAT AUBURN ELEVEN FACES TEST SATURDAY

Victory Over Georgia Will Return Title to Plains.

By Ben Cothran,

United Press Staff Correspondent.
Auburn, one of the nation's six unbeaten, untied football teams, needs only a victory over Georgia Saturday to bring the Southern conference football title back to the Plains of Alabama, where it hasn't been in a long time.

A small, cohesive, hard-blocking team with all the elusive speed of the Notre Dame system at peak efficiency, has put Auburn at the head of the parade after so many years of dragging along in the rear.

Talented and Georgia Tech, always among the south's best teams, have been knocked off as Auburn galloped along the comeback trail, getting enough touchdowns to rank second in scoring among the unbeaten teams.

Back in the last decade, little Mike Donahue turned out big teams that stem-rolled through the south every year. Donahue left Auburn and Auburn began losing. Then Chet Wynne, a Notre Dame man and the last of a long line of Auburn coaches, was brought down from the middle west. That was in 1920. Auburn won 3 out of 10 games. Last year there were five victories, three losses and one tie. The team won the last game of 1931 and has won the eight games played so far in 1932, a winning streak of nine and the best record since 1913.

TEST SATURDAY.
Auburn's test comes Saturday. Tennessee and Vanderbilt tied last Saturday to leave Auburn all alone in the title race.

Georgia has developed from a green team with all the indecision of sophomores to an outfit that plays hard. Auburn's football is hard to beat. If Auburn doesn't trip on the Georgia hurdle it has only South Carolina to whip for a perfect season. South Carolina isn't very tough for a team like Auburn.

The Notre Dame system is strictly followed on offense and defense. Auburn's team is practically the smallest in Dixie. It depends on speed, power and must depend on speed, blocking and deception. It has all three.

Success of plays depends upon every man performing a major part in their execution and Captain Jimmy Hitchcock, the spark plug of the team, is the best performer. A hard, fast runner, Jones and Chambliss, who runs the team from quarterback, he gives all orders, is a good blocker and, like the incomparable Dodd, of Tennessee, serves as a coach while the team is on the field.

Firpo Phipps and Truck Talley have weight and speed and rank with Hitchcock at ground-gaining. They are good defensively as offensive linemen and getting through Auburn's secondary is a very hard job.

GOOD ENDS.
The ends are taken care of by Arjal and Grant. Phipps and Talley pair in the south. The line is little, loud, tough and always good for 60 minutes. There is not an outstanding star. McCollum and Primm, the guards, and Lee Johnson, center, are each as good as the other.

A good deal of praise has been made since the start of the season, says Coach Wynne. "The boys now have more poise and are smarter. The team has developed because of hard work on the part of everyone connected with the athletic department. We have a good team but are considerably worried about Georgia."

Coach Mehre, of Georgia, however, is worried about Auburn, so that makes it even.

Auburn started out by smothering Birmingham-Southern last year. It was hard to beat three years ago, 61-0. The Tiger landed Erskine, 7-0; turned back a tough Duke team, 18-7; showed that it had versatility by defeating Tech—which has developed into one of the hardest of southern teams—in the rain, 6-0; name out of that hard game to end Tulane's three-year rule in the south with a 19-7 victory; relaxed against Mississippi but made a grand last-minute stand to win, 14-7; took Howard easily, 25-0; and had little trouble with Florida, 21-7.

The schedule had set-up on it but there were tough spots in it. A well-coached, able team, which knew its fundamentals and bit hard and fast was necessary to come through victorious. That's the sort of team they have at Auburn.

F. D. JR. STARS.
CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 16.—(P)—Playing their first outside team since 1930, the St. Paul's school football team today held Groton to a 6-6 tie. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the president-elect, played right tackle for the visitors and was one of the outstanding linemen of the game until relieved by Barbour, a 220-pound substitute, late in the second period.

Physicians Advise Veteran End To Give Up Football.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—Harry Mehre, who is hoping against hope that his Georgia Bulldogs will give Auburn a real battle Saturday at Columbus, turned the attention of his proteges to offensive play this afternoon as one of Georgia's veteran linemen hung up the football togs for good.

Pick Maxwell, the veteran who has been doing noble work this season at left end, today was told by a physician that he must give up football or take a chance of serious damage to his health. Maxwell counted on strong for next year, since little Freddie Miller finishes up this season, suffered a slight concussion of the brain two years ago. Apparently he fully recovered from the injury but at times, in the heat of hard fought games, he has been subject to spells of dizziness.

Maxwell will be missed by the Bulldogs, particularly in Saturday's game with Auburn. The tall end from Sanford, Fla., was a capable man in a pinch.

Harry Mehre paid tribute to Maxwell this afternoon and said that he would be greatly missed at end. Since becoming a member of the varsity, the big fellow has been handicapped by various minor injuries, yet he has courageously carried on without grumbling.

A brief downpour of rain, followed by a distinct drop in temperature, added zest to an offensive scrimmage that saw every available member of the varsity squad in action against the Red Devils. It was the first time the Bulldogs had possession of the ball since last Friday's battle with Clemson. They took advantage of the opportunity and displayed improvement over their play against the Tigers.

Little Homer Key, Buster Mott, "Jumpin'" Joe Crouch and Jack Griffith, sophomore quarterback, teamed together to form the first-string backfield.

Vason McWhorter, who has done most of the center playing this fall, was at his post and was flanked by Leroy Moorehead and Billy Hazlehurst. John West, replacing Ed Davis, and Charley Opper were the tackles, with little Freddie Miller back at left end and Graham Batchelor on the other side of the line.

That combination started the ball rolling and steadily pushed the Red Devils back to their own goal line. Their progress was not unimpeded, however, for there were times when the tough lads who form the reserve squad stepped up and took charge of things momentarily.

When Harry Mehre thought the first team was enough for the day, an embarrassing situation arose. It was learned that he had barely enough men to form a second string. However, after searching around some time 11 Bulldogs were found to replace the others and the scrimmage proceeded. The second outfit had considerable more trouble with the Reds than the first.

The missing men who caused the embarrassing situation were up in the training rooms receiving treatment for sundry ailments. Buck Chapman, who was down for a short time, went back up to let Trainer Clarence Jones put him in the sweat box again. Lloyd Gilmore was limping around with the bruised hip which will probably cause him to quit his football career on the bench. Ed Davis, the big tackle, is recovering from the effects of a bad cold.

MISS HOLM LEADS RECORD HOLDERS
NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—The Olympic year in the United States produced a total of 224 record-breaking performances by American and foreign athletes, the record committee of the Amateur Athletic Union reported today when it completed the task of tabulating the year's applications for record recognition which he submitted to the A. A. U. convention here November 20-22.

Eleanor Holm, of New York, displaced Helene Madison, of Seattle, as the leading record breaker. She recorded a total of 14 assorted record-breaking performances. Leo Sexton, of New York, Olympic shot-punch champion, broke more records than any other athlete with the 16-pound shot that beat the listed world's mark of 52 feet 7 1/2 inches.

Other record holders were Los Angeles swimmer, applied for nine records; Miss Madison listed eight; Ben Eastman, who turned in two records, broke the 100-yard dash; Bob Dickinson, Dallas, six; Stella Walsh, Cleveland, five, and Gene Venek, of Hollywood, Fla.; Paul Debrun, New York, and Emmett Toppino, New Orleans, four each.

CLARK ELEVEN IS GIVEN EDGE

The outstanding football game of the season among colored schools will be played Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park between Morehouse College and Clark University. Two well-known schools here. The game will have direct bearing on the Atlanta championship, which is bitterly contested among these colleges in the city.

Clark University last season won the Atlanta championship by defeating Morris Brown College in their annual Thanksgiving game, which entitled to one leg on the handsome silver trophy offered by Dr. E. G. Bowden, prominent physician, who will present the cup permanently to the team winning the title for three years.

The relative strength of the two teams involved gives Clark University an edge in this encounter.

This game is always a "grudge" affair, where past performances stand for nothing. For the last ten years their games have been bitterly fought with close scores resulting. Last year Clark eked out a one-touchdown victory in an upset game.

The largest crowd of the season is expected to witness this game. Several hundred white fans have already made reservations for the game.

SCHAAF AGREES.
NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(UP)—Ernie Schaaf, of Boston, has agreed to fight the winner of Friday night's bout between Primo Carnera and Jose Santa, Madison Square Garden announced tonight. The Schaaf battle is slated for a week from Friday. Both Carnera, Italian heavyweight, and Santa, of Portugal, have agreed to meet the Bostonian.

GEORGIA LOSES DICK MAXWELL FOR TIGER GAME

Physicians Advise Veteran End To Give Up Football.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—Harry Mehre, who is hoping against hope that his Georgia Bulldogs will give Auburn a real battle Saturday at Columbus, turned the attention of his proteges to offensive play this afternoon as one of Georgia's veteran linemen hung up the football togs for good.

Pick Maxwell, the veteran who has been doing noble work this season at left end, today was told by a physician that he must give up football or take a chance of serious damage to his health. Maxwell counted on strong for next year, since little Freddie Miller finishes up this season, suffered a slight concussion of the brain two years ago. Apparently he fully recovered from the injury but at times, in the heat of hard fought games, he has been subject to spells of dizziness.

Maxwell will be missed by the Bulldogs, particularly in Saturday's game with Auburn. The tall end from Sanford, Fla., was a capable man in a pinch.

Harry Mehre paid tribute to Maxwell this afternoon and said that he would be greatly missed at end. Since becoming a member of the varsity, the big fellow has been handicapped by various minor injuries, yet he has courageously carried on without grumbling.

A brief downpour of rain, followed by a distinct drop in temperature, added zest to an offensive scrimmage that saw every available member of the varsity squad in action against the Red Devils. It was the first time the Bulldogs had possession of the ball since last Friday's battle with Clemson. They took advantage of the opportunity and displayed improvement over their play against the Tigers.

Minor League Owners Seek to Cancel Debts

Salvation of Smaller Teams Depends on Action of Majors.

By Jack Cuddy,

United Press Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(UP)—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues is expected to move at its Columbus, Ohio, meeting next month to have major league clubs cancel all debts owed them by minor clubs, as the only salvation for many of the latter.

This project is not listed on the association's agenda, but it probably will be the most important matter considered at the minor league meeting. Minor officials have been discussing the matter for some time. Many of the minor clubs, particularly in the grades B, C and D divisions, are so heavily in debt to major clubs that it is impossible for present owners, who haven't sufficient funds to operate the clubs properly, to sell them to men who have money. Prospective purchasers won't buy clubs that are buried under old paper. Most of these debts are for players sent down from the majors, and some of them are 10 or more years old.

Minor league officials believe that a clean sweep of the debt situation would bring new money and new blood into the lower teams, thereby bolstering the whole baseball picture. Unless something like this is done many of the clubs are expected to fold up within the next year.

A special committee may be appointed to represent the association in appealing for cancellation. If this committee is appointed, it probably will appear at the National league meeting in New York on December 13.

In keeping with the association's campaign for economy, the meeting also will consider the reduction of salary and player limits for all classifications of leagues, and the discontinuance of broadcasting home games.

Of the three grade AA leagues, the American association already has reduced its total monthly club salary for all players to $8,500. The International league has cut from $13,000 to $8,200, and the Pacific Coast league is expected to do likewise.

Leagues in the grade A division are expected to reduce their total monthly player salary from $5,000 to $3,500. Another B, C and D divisions probably will follow suit.

The broadcasting of home games is looked upon with disfavor by most minor league officials. They believe it cuts down the gate, and are expected to vote to have it discontinued.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—Dullness and irregularity marked today's session of the bond market, with various high grade issues holding fairly firm and semi-speculative groups jumping about erratically.

One of the bright spots was the strength of United States government obligations, gains in this section ranging from 1-1/8 to 1-3/4 points. The federales were cheered by the report that the federal reserve system intended to maintain its open market policy for the time being, with its government securities holdings at around $1,850,000,000.

While the industrial production and electric light output showing a mild decline—the railroads received some encouraging statistics—the announcement that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had approved a loan of around $31,000,000 to the Baltimore & Ohio to meet the maturity of its 4-1/2s due next March, The B. & O. list picked up sharply at one time but, in company with a number of other secondary rails, reacted later when stocks became heavy.

Other weak transportation lines included some of the Chicago, Cincinnati, Chicago & Northwestern, Missouri Pacific and Frisco. Obligations of American Telephone displayed a strong advance. Loans of International Telephone were easy. Amusement company bonds were weak. Paramount-Famous-Lasker dropped 1-1/4 points and Paramount Public 5-1/2s were off 4. Loews's 6s 1-1/2 points. The oils were steady.

The foreign department was rather quiet and lower. British 5-1/2s closed at their day's low of 105 1/8, off 1-1/8.

Mississippi Moves

To Meet Obligations

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16.—(P)—State Treasurer Lewis S. May announced today that all state "general fund" monies coming in after January 1 will be impounded until sufficient has been accumulated to meet approximately $3,750,000 due as bonds and interest on the state debt, the first of the year and August 1, 1933.

Impounding, authorized by an act of the legislature last year, means that no employees of state institutions will be able to cash warrants at the treasurer's office from January 1 until the general fund reaches the $3,750,000 mark.

Probe of Dynamiting

Lauded by Lions Club

Resolutions commending the grand jury for its action on the campaign of sabotage directed against the Georgia Power Company were released Wednesday by the Lions Club as the jury prepared to begin its dynamite outrages. The grand jury will meet Friday to continue its investigation.

The Lions Club urged co-operation of civic organizations to bring about coherent unified efforts to stamp out the crimes and to bring the dynamiters to justice. The club went on record as protesting "such criminal acts in the strongest terms" and pleaded members individually and as a club to co-operate in every way possible with law enforcement officers in an effort to control the situation.

STATE MAY DELAY

INSULL EXTRADITION

BARRE, Ont., Nov. 16.—(P)—It was learned from reliable sources tonight that the extradition hearing of Martin J. Insull, who faces embezzlement and larceny charges in Chicago in connection with failure of the Insull Utilities, is likely to be postponed another two weeks on November 18.

J. R. Ross, counsel for Insull, has made it clear that the extradition hearing was at the request of counsel for the state of Illinois, and that the other side should have the same privilege.

It is understood also that late arrival of necessary documents may call for a postponement. Meanwhile, Mr. Insull is at Orillia, Ontario, out on bail of $50,000.

THREE HELD IN PLOT

TO SMUGGLE LIQUOR

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 16.—(UP)—Three reported former United States coast guardsmen were jailed tonight in default of $5,000 bond set after they were charged with a conspiracy to smuggle liquor.

The trio, caught by a coast guard cutter 100 miles west of the mouth of the Mississippi river in the Gulf of Mexico, gave the names of Sidney Galt, John Galt and Andrew L. Lett, all of Louisiana.

Two jugs, containing approximately 400 cases of liquor were taken. One of the jugs was swamped while being towed to Mobile and 100 cases lost. A third jug and a larger vessel, identified as a Honduran motorship, escaped.

FLORIDIAN IS GRANTED

FULL PARDON AS SLAYER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 16.—(P)—John J. Mendenhall, sentenced to life imprisonment at Tampa in July, 1915, for the murder of Miss Sue Elliot, and granted a conditional pardon in July, 1930, today was given a full pardon and restored to citizenship by the state board of pardons.

Town Forgets to Name

Municipal Officials

GOLDONNA, La., Nov. 16.—(P)—The Natchitoches parish town of 100 souls was so interested in the presidential election a week ago it forgot to elect its own municipal officials.

Somebody discovered the oversight the other day, but Goldonna decided another election at the time would justify an anti-climax, so folks hereabouts got together and petitioned Governor O. K. Allen to save expense by making appointments instead.

The governor complied, naming R. E. Easley, mayor; E. W. Bryant, marshal, and S. D. Whitner, A. H. Plummer and Miss Jessie Quail, aldermen.

And now Goldonna is itself again.

'Goat Woman' Cleared In Merrill Murder

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A negro woman and a dead negro man were indicted today by the Adams county grand jury for the slaying of Miss Jane Surget Merrill, wealthy recluse.

The jury returned a "true bill" against Lawrence Pinkney Williams, alias George Pearles, who was slain when he resisted arrest at Pine Bluff, Ark., shortly after Miss Merrill was slain at Glenburne, her plantation home.

The jury indicted Emily Burns, a negro woman, on two counts, one as an accessory to the murder, and the other for aiding a murderer to escape.

The grand jury report was made to the court late today. It was unofficially reported that Emily Burns would be arraigned when court reconvenes tomorrow morning.

The jury took no action against R. H. Dana "The Wolf Man of Goat Castle," and his guardian, Miss O'Leary Dockery, "The Goat Woman," who are under charges of murder in connection with the slaying. Dana and Miss Dockery were released from jail when officers reported their investigation showed Pearles was the actual slayer of Miss Merrill.

O'Neil Addresses Tire Men Here; Sherman Act Change Is Asked

Declaring that the tire industry needed leadership and deprecating certain of its business methods, William O'Neil, president of the General Tire & Rubber Co., addressed the annual banquet of the National Tire Dealers' Association at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday night. The convention adjourned after a three-day session.

Members of the tire business, Mr. O'Neil declared that a mistake had been made in emphasizing cheap price above quality.

"The industry lacks leadership," he said. "Some of the big companies are not as well financially as they were in 1916, although their business is less than that of the steel industry."

Mr. O'Neil criticized certain misleading statements which were made in tire advertisements. He also thought it unwise for factories to enter other lines of manufacturing.

Earlier in the day in an interview Mr. O'Neil said that improvement in the tire business would be reflected immediately in a greater demand for cotton. A falling off in tire sales and manufacture had cut down the use of cotton for tire fabrics, he said.

Advertising will play a big part in business recovery, John Benson, president of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, told the convention at Wednesday's session. Companies will use advertising more and more to aid salesmanship, he added.

The concluding session on Wednesday was devoted to further round-table discussions by the delegates and to reports to committees.

A resolution was adopted calling on congress to make changes in the Sherman anti-trust act by which price fixing advertisements could be reached by the industry.

National Advertisers Show Trade Increase

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 16.—(UP)—Lee H. Bristol, retiring president of the Association of National Advertisers, today told the annual convention of that organization that more than 50 per cent of its members had reported a sales increase of approximately 23 per cent in the past three months as compared with the same months previous.

Improved conditions in the trades reporting the increase resulted in the unusual showing, Bristol declared. Thirty-five per cent of the concerns represented at the convention, he revealed, plan to increase their advertising appropriations in 1933, while only 22 plan decreases in that year.

Members of the A. N. A. plan $300,000,000 worth of advertising annually.

Francis P. Harper Passes in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Francis Perego Harper, retired dealer in rare books and an authority on Americana, died last night of complications resulting from a fall a month ago in which he broke a leg. He was 76.

He had been a winter resident of St. Petersburg, Fla., since 1912, when he first went there because of his wife's poor health, and was preparing to leave for the south when he was injured. Mrs. Harper died last spring. He is survived by two brothers, Lathrop C. and James P. Harper.

Clouds Bar Good Look At Shower of Meteors

Atlantans were disappointed in the result of what had been billed as the "greatest show on earth" with the Leonid meteors, which were in their three-century appearance in the heavens when, for the second and last night of their scheduled "stand" in this country, they were expected to shower down on the city.

The early morning hours in the hopes of seeing them.

Judge John D. Humphries, who made it a point early Wednesday morning to try to locate the shower of meteors, said he was unable to see any at all. Other Atlantans who stayed up to see the show likewise were disappointed.

PRICES OF LIQUOR HIKED IN GOTHAM

Desperate Bootleggers, Seeing Bonanza End, Make Last "Killing"

BY JOHN M. MARTIN.
(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(UP)—A huge liquor syndicate organized to make one grand, final clean-up before "the death of prohibition," was blamed tonight for an almost unprecedented boost of $10 and $15 a case on hard liquor sold to speakeasies.

This syndicate, according to one informant, has formed a tightly knit organization, which has obtained by various means what amounts to a monopoly of the Atlantic seaboard liquor business.

Its "board of directors" held its first official meeting, it was said, Monday. And its first move was to order the increase of $10 and $15 a case, which, incidentally, was to be "only the first step" for the highly profitable holiday business.

The leading eastern racketeers and bootleggers plan to cash in on what they expect to be the most prosperous holiday liquor trade since prohibition. They view this holiday as possibly their last chance to make a real killing before a change in the Volstead law. They optimistically believe prohibition will be repealed and more lax due to the wet victory in the recent presidential election. So they marshalled their forces, collected a "slush fund," and placed the control of the industry in the hands of a few leaders.

The order for an increase in retail prices was given out yesterday. Speakeasy and restaurant proprietors seeking to replenish their supplies today found the price from $10 to $15 per case higher. They were informed "the market has been taken over." They were told it would be "impossible" to get good liquor any cheaper anywhere.

And as one greatly worried and harassed mid-town tavern owner said, "that means a boost in prices all along the line."

Regulation Is Urged For Motor Carriers

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Amos A. Betts, of Phoenix, chairman of the Arizona corporation commission, told the convention of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners today that unless motor vehicle transportation is regulated "the people will choose the lesser of the two evils and tax motor carriers off the highways."
